

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates in part to methods for screening for novel enzymatic pathways in environmental samples using metabolic selection strategies, and the 5 isolation of the genes and proteins that make up these pathways.

005540" 967650